THE HOMELESS CITY

By Dr. BERTHOLD A. BAER.

Moving time and scarcely a place to go. New Yorkers live in apartments or in hotels. Few live in houses. Fewer live in homes. Philadelphia is the city of homes-New York is the city of "a few rooms and a bath." "When you are sick you consult the 'family doctor," said Frank E. Campbell, founder-proprietor of The Funeral Church, Broadway at 66th Street. "His prescription you take to your neighborhood drug store. You talk about sickness as you talk about the theatre, and you find this quite natural. But to prepare for or even talk about death in the bloom of life-that you consider shocking, horrible. "Suddenly Father Time calls 'halt.' You are stunned. There is hardly room for the living; where will you place the departed, who needs and deserves as good attention as the living, even more, attention which cannot be given at the home, however preten-

"Realizing that the house, the apartment, the hotel, is not the proper place for the dead," Mr. Campbell replied, "I erected this wonderful building at Broadway and 66th Street, where every year thousands lie in state.

"Immediately after demise the departed is brought to The Funeral Church and placed in one of the many beautiful, harmoniously furnished private rooms or parlors, there to remain until the day of the funeral. Relatives and friends may come and go at any hour, day or night, for the room where their departed lies is theirs, and theirs alone.

"On the day of the funeral the demised is placed. in The Funeral Church, non-sectarian, with its ample seating, designed and executed in pure Gothic style. There is no charge for the Church and never has been. People of all vogue of life are worshipping there; clergymen of every denomination have spoken

Since my visit to The Funeral Church I understand why the best families avail themselves of this greatest of all institutions, the like of which I have not seen either in this or any foreign country, an institution where the living finds consolation and the dead a home. It is truly the home of the dead,
